Why do we do DebConf?

- For many reasons ;-)

Why do we do DebConf?

- provide opportunity for DDs, interested people and existing teams within Debian to get together, discuss and hack on the Debian distribution and its infrastructure
- educate people with talks and workshops
- a chance to meet face to face, socialise, form stronger and more productive social bonds and brainstorm new ideas
- boost the motivations of individuals and work groups

Why do we do DebConf?

- somewhat lower priority:
 - boost the local Debian community
 - to have some fun in RL to have more fun when hacking on the net
- No goals, but nice (but "not important") by-products:
 - free food and accomodation in a nice place for DDs and contributors to give them something back to them for their continuous contributions.

Location Checklist

- Local team
- Choice of city / town / whatever
- Conference Facilities
- Food
- Network connectivity
- Special DebConference rooms
- Accomodation
- Fun and Free time activities
- Local Sponsors

Timeline

- Suggestion:
 - We only decide on this timeline today
 - Deadline for proposals: December 31st 2008
 - Deadline for decision: April 1st 2009
 - aim for decision on March 1st 2009
 - We need to decide a procedure for decision making too. I'd suggest we document the procedure until December 31st 2008 and that the preferred way is rough consensus, else we use the procedure as we had for DebConf7

Proposals

- Today's proposals, as far as I know...
 - Fulda, Germany?
 - Boston / New York City / San Francisco, U.S.A.
 - Margarita island, Venezuela
- Please keep the proposals to 7-10 min., we won't decide on them today anyway.

Have fun at DebConf8!
